

As a resident of a border town I am opposed to border tolls on our public highways. I believe border tolls would increase traffic on local roads as most residents of our town and neighboring towns know how to commute between state lines without the necessity of traveling on highways and would increase the traffic in our already congested town.

Also if the purpose is to increase funding for highway/transportation needs, the better option would be to use the current income from the gas tax, which is supposed to be earmarked for such spending, and which is obviously being diverted to other spending.

No border tolls are needed-responsible spending is needed.
